

a mes archives = a French phrase literally meaning ‘on my archives’. This was a polite way to avoid saying the Greek expression «sta arhidhia mou» = I couldn’t care less, lit.: «on my genitals», i.e. «I’ll scribble it on my genitals, where no ink stays put for long». In this, the Smyrniots exploited the acoustic similarity between the Greek and the French word.

kourkouyoú = cesspit. From Tur. kör kuyu = blind well. Gr: vóthros. Tur: fosseptik, lağım cukuru.

stromatsópano = the cross-and-stripes flag of Greece, as referred to by Royalist Greeks, who preferred their royal white cross on blue. Lit.: mattress cloth.

vámos parakí = let’s go this way. From Ladino vamos por aquí = let’s go this way. A rhyming joke: « Vamos paraki, tsi nenes sou to vraki » = ‘..., your grandmother’s panties’.
